From the Principals

LOTE French Program
Over the last eighteen months we have advertised many times for a LOTE teacher (Spanish and then French) and to date, our search has been unsuccessful. There were a couple of times when we came close to appointing a teacher but unfortunately the successful applicant either accepted another position or decided not to return to full time work. However, we remain committed to the implementation of a high quality LOTE program. School Council have referred it back to the Education Committee to decide whether we continue to pursue French or consider another language. The Education Committee will report back to School Council at our May meeting. Based on the feedback from the Education Committee, we will continue our recruiting processes to ensure that a LOTE program is in place for the 2017 school year.

At the beginning of the 2016 school year, we recruited Ellie Tracey to fill the place of the vacant LOTE teacher in the hope that we would have recruited someone by the end of Term 1. As Ellie is not a LOTE teacher we asked her to follow the program of the class teacher to enable them to meet in their Collaborative Teams and plan for student learning. As time progressed and still no LOTE teacher appointed, I discussed with School Council the possibility of Ellie’s time being used more productively between now and the end of the year. It has been decided that during this time we will run a Science Program across the school to supplement the Concept Based Curriculum currently being implemented by the class teacher.

Out of School Hours Care
Program Number: 9314 9358
This will be a wonderful addition to the Specialist Programs, and Ellie is very excited and looking forward to exploring the world of science with our students. As there are thirty classes in the school, Ellie will be able to implement the Science Program in twenty-seven classes and in the other three classes, the program will be implemented by another teacher. Annmaree Jones is currently working on the timetable and the details will be available later this week. I trust that you understand why this decision has been taken and that you will fully support Ellie in this new and exciting role.

5 Days of War by Josh Attard

Day 1
We got on the ship today; the whole town cheered us off,
A strange mix cheering and crying;
Sounds of delight,
Mixed in with sobbing, sadness and pain,
I still feel guilty for lying to the military,
Threatening that I would run away from home if my parents told the army I was under age, 18 years old is age to join the army,
I am 17. Too young.

Day 2
It has been months on the boat,
The first part of the journey was good, even fun at points,
But the journey got rough, literally,
We hit a cyclone over the Indian Ocean,
Ever since then we have not been the same,
We have not even arrived at the fighting, and the tolls of war are already showing,
The posters lie. It’s not a grand adventure after all,
It is war and war is horrible,

Day 3
We have arrived at Gallipoli,
It’s only now that we realise what war is:
War is missing your family,
War is the feeling of horror even when you are safe,
War is the pain that you feel in the heart and in the soul,
War is darkness when the sun is shining,
We have arrived at war.

Day 4
The shooting continues
My friends and allies have fallen
Their body’s fading into the earth
Their spirits flying up to heaven
We wait like sitting ducks in our trenches
Against all odds,
We push on with the courage of a lion
And the heart of an eagle
Every day hundreds die
Every week thousands die.
This is not the only battle; there are many others within this catastrophic war.
Day 5
The misery. The pain. Bullets whizzing over the survivors
An explosion. I’m hit.
In my last moments, I discover the meaning of war:
War is a fight not between good and bad
But a fight between pride and pride.
We were sent into battle as if we were expendable.
We are not expendable. We are people with lives and families.
The pain of war is not just the pain of the soldiers
It is the pain of the millions of families of these soldiers

We will remember
Remember them,
They fought in war,
Their bravery soared through many generations.
Celebrating to this day,
For what they did.

They faced the worst,
Hell-like images,
Flashing in their mind,
The gunshots,
The trumpets,
The death,
The agony.

Risking their lives,
The glory,
The gory,
Never to be forgotten,
The battle,
Killing them inside.

They were scared,
Normal people like you and me,
This is what they stand for,
Not for the medals,
For us,
To protect us.

Their families,
Weeping in sorrow,
Hoping that just one day,
One day they will be back,
But for some, that day never came.

So on the 25th of April,
We play the trumpets,
We raise the flag,
To show our respect,
To those who made us a proud nation,
Remember them for their honour,
Remember them for their bravery,
Remember them for their sacrifice,
Their sacrifice to Australia,
Lest we forget.

By: Isabella Maticevski
Found poem ANZAC

Battle upon glory,
Glory upon battle,
Tears upon dead,
We will remember them,
Dust marches upon the dead comrades,
Free spirits in the midst of battle,
Heavenly stars remain upon uncounted flesh,
We will remember them,
Songs upon laughing,
Stars aglow in the midst,
We remember them,
At dusk and dawn,
We will remember them,
Tears shine,
As the mornings cause free spirits,
We will remember them.

YOU'RE INVITED TO ATTEND
A WORKSHOP: TALKING WITH YOUR CHILD ABOUT ALCOHOL AND DRUGS

At some point we have all sat down with our parents for 'the talk'. It's not always easy, but learning about sex is an important conversation that every parent and child should have. But what about 'the other talk'—a conversation about alcohol and other drugs?

The Australian Drug Foundation is holding a free workshop to help parents have 'the other talk'. Parents are still an important and trusted source of information for young people and play a crucial role in children's future decision making.

The Other Talk workshop discusses real life situations, covers some of those uncomfortable questions and provides you with basic alcohol and drug information so that you can have 'the other talk' confidently and effectively.

Who should attend?

• Parents and guardians of children aged 6-15 years.
• Teachers and professionals who work with young people.

Why should I attend?

• Learn how and what age to talk with your child about alcohol and drugs.
• Learn how to manage real-life situations involving your child.
• Get the facts and learn the myths.
